

When breaking down the components of the project's creative process, I wanted to do a cookie-cutter look such as seen above. This is a crude sketch, but I wanted to do a design similar to fashion sketches that are seen in fashion design (<https://pin.it/31EIZHg>) and with cut-outs of different styles on the sketch. Depending on the kind of clothing you click on, it will lead you to a page explaining the style. This is a rough concept of what the main cite would look like.

Photos included in the project:

https://www.google.com/url?sa=i&url=https%3A%2F%2Fwww.yp.sg%2Fharajuku-fashion-sg%2Fdecora-kei%2F&psig=AOvVaw2iJzvMnAm3qPrsKF-94itO&ust=1682173819061000&source=images&cd=vfe&ved=0CBAQjRxqFwoTCMit-vmXu\_4CFQAAAAAdAAAAABAE

<https://www.harajuku-kawaii-tour.com/fashion/various-harajuku-girls-fashion/>

<https://japan-avenue.com/blogs/japan/harajuku-fashion>